

THE EDITOR
SAYS—

On a recent visit to London Charlie Blanton of The Sikeston Standard overheard a conversation between two fishermen. One said: "D'you know, Mr. 'Arris, I sometimes wonder if me husband's grown tired of me". "An' what makes you say that, Mrs. 'Irgs?" "Well, he ain't been home for all o' seven years"—K. C. Democrat.

In doing our part to help with the distribution of seed to those desiring and entitled to them, it was the pleasure to help in this office to fill out all of the application blanks, then our duty was finished we believed. Then came the second batch of seed to be given to colored folks and Reverend Collins kindly volunteered his services which was much appreciated and very helpful.

Our neighbor, W. P. Wilkerson, is a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Scott County on the Democratic ticket and solicits your consideration at the August primary. We have known him and his folks always and can vouch for Wiley in every way.

Tom Scott has announced as a candidate for Collector. He needs no words of praise or introduction to the voters as he is well known to every voter in Scott County. He is a good campaigner and propoises to run the race on a high plane.

Everybody in Ward 3 knows Barney Forrester and know him to be a good citizen, and one who is deeply interested in Sikeston. He asks the support of the voters of that Ward for alderman to succeed Dr. Presnell resigned to be Mayor. Barney will be an active member if elected.

The last edition of "Colliers" in mentioning Washington Workers included, among others, that of Catherine Blanton, secretary to Senator Pat Harrison. To be sure her Father and Mother were very proud to note this.

Sir E. Pendleton Crowe of the Dexter Statesman seems to have gotten religion, which he probably needed after reading Charlie Blanton's editorials for 21 years. So he is penning sermonettes and bearing down hard on the spiritual side of life. Thus, he agrees with a fellow who stopped him in his tracks a few days ago and told him that "the violation of the Ten Commandments has more to do with our financial distresses than anything else". Well, our experience has been that a fellow can have a lot of financial worry without monkeying with the Commandments at all. In fact, you can go broke living up to them. We're not saying this to drive Sir Edmund back to a life of shame, but just to be sure that he is equipped with all the information.—K. C. Democrat.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from an Oran woman who orders us not to put any articles in The Standard about her or any of her family and this is to tell her that we don't give a damn whether items printed in The Standard suits her or her family or not, as we do not make a habit of consulting anybody what goes in this sheet.

The City of Sikeston stands ready to oil any or all streets of Sikeston at once if the property owners so wish it and will inform the Mayor, the city clerk, or the street commissioner. The money must be on the barrel head as it is a cash proposition.

The editor visited the colored school at noon time Monday and was proud of the new addition to their school building. This room is being put to good use as a domestic science room, where cooking, canning, preserving and sewing is taught. About two weeks from now their annual county fair will be held at which time the eleven schools of Scott County will have displays of different kinds of needle work and modeling of dresses they have made, and the boys show many useful articles they have made under the direction of their manual training teacher. The cramped quarters in the shed used for manual training made it necessary to use the basement of the Baptist Church in the Sunset Addition. These teachers are doing splendid work.

A trip through Sunset Addition Monday afternoon showed many of the streets had been freshly graded which showed the new city administration proposes to look after every section of the city. Some work was being done in Ward Two in an attempt to do away with standing water after rains. Aldermen from each ward should look after their sections and complaints should be made to the alderman, their representative, instead of direct to the Mayor, and let the alderman take it up with the Street Commissioner.

Sheriff Accuses Three of Bisbennet Robbery

With four persons in jail, Sheriff Sam Harris, of New Madrid County, thinks he has completed the roundup of participants in the attempted robbery of the William Bisbennet store near New Madrid a week ago yesterday.

One, Mrs. Genevieve LaRue, 20 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reddick, farmers living four miles east and a mile south of Bernie, was arrested last Tuesday. She was apprehended chiefly because of a bullet wound which she believes she inflicted herself during a scuffle in the store and when questioned readily admitted her part in the attempted holdup. She refused, however, to name her accomplices and denied that the men arrested had been with her at the time.

Robert Lindsay, about 25 years old, of near Bernie, has been identified by witnesses as the man who entered the store with Mrs. LaRue, and O'Dell McIntosh, about 26 years old, is said to have been with her when the three stopped at Malden and again at Bernie in an effort to locate a doctor to dress Mrs. LaRue's wound.

Bonds for the three have been set at $10,000 each. Mrs. LaRue, at least, will be charged with first degree robbery with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to kill.

The fourth person in jail, Dillard Riddle of near Bernie, is not thought to have been connected with the Bisbennet robbery, but he is being held and questioned about another crime. He will be charged with robbing an aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cruger, at their home on the Mississippi River in the southern part of New Madrid County, of a shotgun, a rifle and $28, last week.

CCC Men Examined At Poplar Bluff

Twenty-eight young men from Scott County, picked from applicants to go to a six-months' session of a Civilian Conservation Corps Camp, underwent a physical examination Friday morning at the Jewell Theatre in Poplar Bluff, together with about 175 other youths from Southeast Missouri. The following day they were scheduled to leave for one of three camps, at Fremont or Big Spring in Missouri, or at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

It is possible, however, that the young men will first be sent to a training camp for two weeks. Each one accepted will send to his family $25 of his $30 monthly salary.

One man chosen, Arnold Louis Urbahn of New Hamburg, refused to attend the camp.

The following went from Scott County: James Oscar Payne, Ansell; Lorton James Duke, Blodgett; Everett Norman Story, Ivan Marvin Musgrave, William Frederick Barringer, and James Jerome Reeves, Chaffee; Frank August Ledure, Commerce; C. C. Miller, Crowder; Albert Edward Williams, Diehlstadt; Ralph Jackson Johnson and Cline Franklin Griffith, Fomfelt; Carl Millard Calhoun and Percy McCormick, Ilmo; Victor Leo Schoen and Richard Eugene Enderle, Kelso; Thelmer Eugene Patterson and Lawrence Leslie Young, Morley; Raymond Edward Glueck, New Hamburg; Virgil Wilbur Dellinger, Edmond; Starling Lyne, Jr., and Alton Perry Robinson, Oran; Nobel Glen Dick and Melvin Marion Miller, Perkins; Lenne Warnice, Vanduser and Barney Dee Chappell, Ernest Monroe Stacy, Royal Leslie Kellett, and Daniel Byrd, Sikeston.

Also reporting in Poplar Bluff Friday were twenty-seven young men from Butler County, thirty-three from Stoddard, nineteen from Mississippi, thirty-four from New Madrid and forty-three from Pemiscot.

CHILD RUN OVER; RECOVERS QUICKLY

Richard Eugene Jines, 3 years old, was knocked unconscious and suffered bruises on his face and stomach when a car, driven by his father, Arley Jines, ran over him at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. The child, who had been playing in the yard before the time of the accident, jumped on the right front fender of his father's car as Jines started the motor preparatory to backing from the yard of his home in the west part of town. Jines neither saw nor heard the boy because of darkness and the noise of the running engine. As he cut his wheels sharply to back out, Richard was thrown off and fell on his face under the right front wheel which ran over the lower part of his back before his father could stop the car.

Jines immediately took his son to Dr. G. W. Presnell, who treated him. Since regaining consciousness at about midnight Thursday, the child has been recovering rapidly.

New Relief Plan to Extend Four Weeks

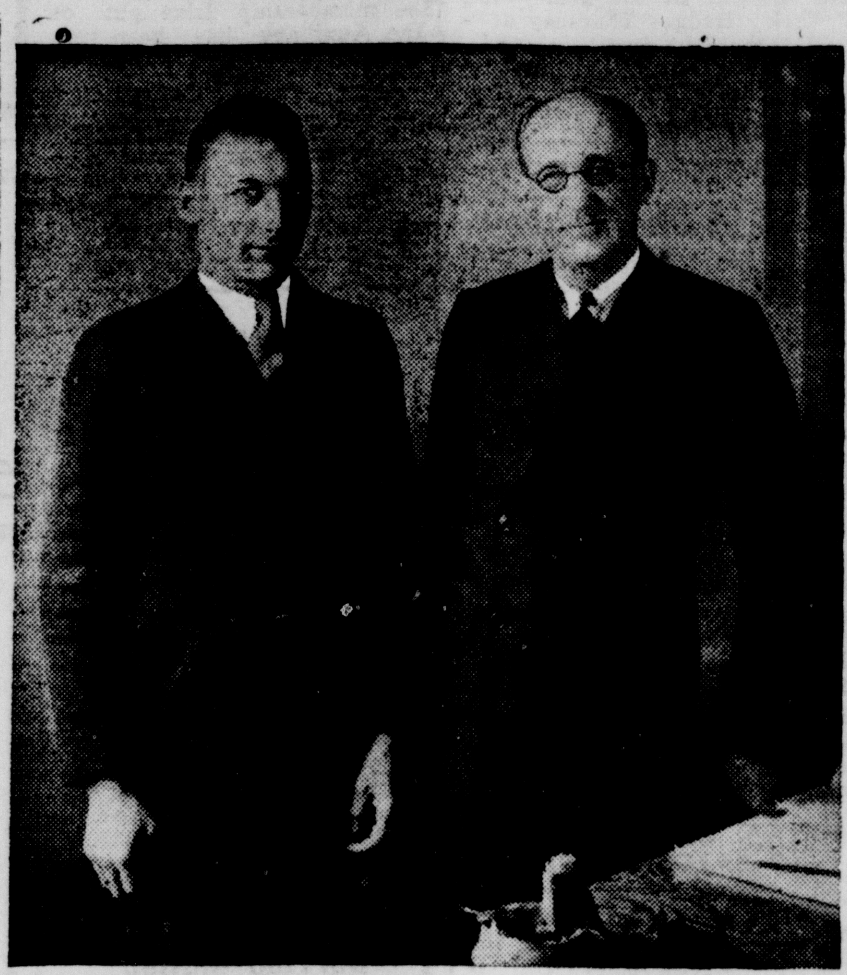

The county's allotment for direct and work relief was divided at a meeting of the Scott County Committee which was held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in Benton. Sikeston's share of the allotment will be used by laborers who will finish the municipal airport and work in the community garden, on city streets, and in any other parts of town which require repair or improvement.

The new setup under which relief officials are now operating will extend only over a four-week period, ending April 25. With the official termination of all relief and CWA work under the old plan registrations were obliterated. Consequently, no one is now on relief, and persons getting relief under the present scheme will first have to make new applications here. If they are found eligible for relief they will be placed on the new roll and furnished work at a rate of 30 cents an hour for the amount of relief they are granted. Remuneration for labor will be made in the form of grocery orders. No one family, however, will be allowed the equivalent in commodities of more than sixteen hours a week.

Orders for persons or direct relief will be approved here, but those for persons on work relief will be issued from the Ilmo relief office, where books on county expenditures will be kept.

At the end of the four-week period people still requiring relief will get it from an additional county allotment which will probably be made for May.

Jack Dolan of Ilmo and Alvin Papin of Chaffee have been named county supervisors for the new setup, and Martha Harrison, em-

Glen Cunningham, world famed distance runner, pauses for a moment in his successful travels from one track meet to another, to have a chat with Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum Company, at his office in Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

FORMER RESIDENT TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Jewell Holman East, who lived here for many years, has announced his candidacy for congressman from the recently formed twelfth district, which embraces all of St. Louis County, and part of West and South St. Louis, subject to the August primary. He will run on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. East attended the Sikeston public schools, and while he lived here worked as bookkeeper for A. J. Matthews. Following his graduation from the University of Missouri and from the School of Law from St. Louis University, he began practicing law in St. Louis, where he now lives.

During the World War, Mr. East served in the Merchant Marine. He is now a member of the American Legion, the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, the Law Library Association of St. Louis and St. John's Methodist Episcopal church.

"Husk" O'Hare and His Band Here April 11th

"Husk" O'Hare, "The Genial Gentleman of the Air", broadcasted over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System, is the best dressed exponent of the art of music. And especially after nightfall. A product of Kentucky with a patina of Southern accent, he has a special flair of natty effects in tails and dinner jackets. His evening ties are a succession of correct points and his sawed-off vests set even such horizontal whiskitis as Clark Gable to teeth gnashing. For wearing evening clothes as no one else does, he has the what-it-takes that packs them in. There is a lusty swagger about his wide-shouldered, double-breasted, hugely pearl-buttoned and jauntily belted camel hair overcoats with incredibly large pockets.

During the daytime he was well-cut clothes very, very, very Broadwayish. His suits are screaming checks, his cream and silver car has his name painted across the back in stud-horse gold letters and he carries booklet matches with his photo on one side and name on the other. He gives autographed pictures to his friends.

See and hear him at the Armory Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

FLORENCE CRISLER MADE GRADE SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Miss Florence Crisler of New Madrid, who has taught here four years, was made principal of the elementary school at a meeting of the School Board Friday morning. Miss Crisler will replace Miss Maude Herring, who will retire this spring after being affiliated with the Sikeston school system for thirteen years. She has held the principalship for eight years.

At this meeting, too, Roy V. Ellise was elected superintendent of Sikeston schools for his fourteenth term and William E. Mahew was made principal of the high school for the fourth time. Election of teachers for next fall will be held at a regular board meeting April 18.

Friday morning J. W. Baker, Jr., and R. E. Bailey were re-elected president and secretary, respectively, of the School Board, and Lee Bowman and W. H. Sikes were named vice-presidents. C. D. Matthews III the only new member elected to the group last Tuesday, was sworn in. R. A. McCord was re-elected.

The body of a negro man, who had been shot through the eye and heart and one of whose arms had been chopped off, supposedly with an ax, was found Sunday in a slough near White Oak in Dunklin County. It is thought the negro had been dead for some time since the body, found by a boy whose name was not learned, was badly decomposed. The man has not yet been identified.

Council Names Eight to Fill City Positions

The City Council named A. C. Barrett, defeated candidate for assessor in Tuesday's election, as City Clerk at a meeting held Friday evening in the City Hall. Other officials chosen by the group were W. C. Boardman, street commissioner; Dr. H. M. Kendig, city physician; Dick Swanner, driver of the fire truck; John A. Young, fire chief; Joe Matthews, chairman of the board of aldermen; Gid Danies, night marshal, and Dr. A. A. Mayfield, member of the board of public works. These men were re-elected from lists of applicants and from persons recommended by Dr. G. W. Presnell.

After the balloting the Council voted $15, which will be added to an equal amount granted by the Scott County Court to provide transportation money to Chicago for an indigent Sikeston man and his invalid child. A sum of $28.35 was also voted to pay CWA workers for the overtime, during which they completed work on city sidewalks. A request by Lon Swanner, former street commissioner, for reimbursement for the use of a tractor belonging to him and utilized on city projects for three years was deferred until a future meeting.

N. E. Fuchs invited the Council and members of the board of public works to a motion picture at his house Saturday evening.

Following the general meeting the Council went into executive session. It will meet again soon to complete plans for a special election to choose an alderman from ward three who will fill the place left vacant by Dr. Presnell when he was elected Mayor.

On Saturday, Patrolman Dace and Tandy arrested C. A. Brooks of Arbyrd, Mo., for buying for an Arkansas State license and living Missouri, and Patrolman Dace arrested A. F. Woten of Cardwell, Mo., on the same charge. In both instances the patrolmen recommended fines of $25.

The National Bank of Caruthersville, housed in the old Bank of Caruthersville building which was purchased for $22,000, will open this week. A. B. Rhodes, present cashier of the First National Bank at Steele, will be cashier and acting head of the new bank.

The National Bank is being sponsored chiefly by a group of Poplar Bluff men. Its offices will be filled by Ed L. Abington, an attorney and active vice-president of the Bank of Poplar Bluff, as president; George W. The opening of this bank will give Caruthersville two such institutions, for the First State Bank of Caruthersville formally began operating last Tuesday with a subscribed stock, with the exception of $30,000 secured from the RFC. The bank is located in the Citizens' Trust building and is headed by R. L. Ward.

BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED

High school baseball teams of Fomfelt, Fruitland, Chaffee, Benton and Central high school in Cape Girardeau have formed a league and will play this spring. The first game will be April 11. HORSE INJURES FARMER

Manley Stagner, about 50 years old, a farmer living near Blodgett, suffered broken ribs and severe cuts on his head and shoulders when he was knocked down and kicked by a horse Saturday morning. Stagner has farmed in this district for many years.

Glancing over The Sikeston Standard, we reach the conviction that one of two things is certain—either The Standard is a remarkable advertising medium, or practically all the merchants of Sikeston are crazy. If insanity is prevalent, it is well established, for every issue of The Standard is full of ads.—K. C. Democrat.

You have oftentimes read elsewhere about a mother dog or mother cat that had adopted the young of some other species of animal for her own, but here is one of these stories right at home. Ward DeField, while out on one of the drainage ditches in the county last week, heard a whining noise and upon investigation found a fox den and dug out one of the young whelps. He brought it to town with him and turned it over to a mother dog that he has at home that is rearing a family of her own, and the young fox has been accepted without question by her and his foster brothers and sisters. The mother dog shows as much maternal attention to the fox pup that she does to any of her own, DeField says, and its whines always brings her to the box to investigate the trouble.—Charleston Courier.

Over at Sikeston, according to Editor Charles L. Blanton of The Standard, a high school student, in an examination just before Christmas, received this question: "What causes a depression?" His answer was: "Good knows! I don't. Merry Christmas". And when the examination paper came back to him, he found the professor's notation: "God gets 100. You get zero. Happy New Year".—K. C. Democrat.

Mrs. A. C. Barrett, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Moore Greer, Miss Myra Tanner and Miss Clara Lindley of Sikeston, and Mrs. Harold Hebbeler of Cape Girardeau were in Cairo Saturday, where they attended a luncheon bridge given by Mrs. Bernet Rees.

When someone told John Boles cycling was a healthful exercise, he took the suggestion seriously. It isn't unusual for him to pedal from his home in Beverly Hills to his cottage at Malibu Beach, a distance of about 25 miles. And making him still more different from most of the other cycling film players, it was not until the other day that a photograph was made showing him on the bike. Boles' latest role is in "I Believed in You", Fox film in which he shares feature honors with Rosemary Ames and Victor Jory. It comes Thursday and Friday to the Malone Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Langley and children spent Sunday in Piggott, Ark., visiting Mrs. E. P. Langley and other relatives. They were accompanied home by Mrs. K. H. Wiggs and son, Russell D., of Oakland City, Ind., for a week's visit here with her sister and family. Mrs. Wiggs and son had been visiting with relatives at Piggott.

Gertrude Michael, the Alabama girl who was brought to Hollywood from the New York stage a year ago and now has a dozen screen roles to her credit, has the fourth important part in "I Believed in You", the cast of which is headed by Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory and John Boles. Irving Cummings directed the film which comes to the Malone Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory and John Boles are featured in this picture. William Conselman wrote the story from an idea by William Anthony McGuire.

The way to keep your weight down is to not let it go up, is the proven belief of John Boles. "Every morning of my life, before breakfast, I step on the scales", he says. "If they register above 190 pounds, I go without lunch or dinner, or put on three or four sweaters and pedal 10 or 15 miles on my bicycle". Boles, who is six feet-one and a former college athlete, carries 190 pounds of muscle well. He has just completed his tenth picture since he signed a Fox Film contract. It is "I Believed in You", which also features Rosemary Ames and Victor Jory and comes on Thursday and Friday to the Malone Theatre.

Among the many standing about the excavation for the new bank was a man seeking information. He asked if the funds for this work was coming from the PWA or CWA. A bystander answered, "No, CDM".

The two weeks ending Friday, April 6 showed the merchants of Sikeston and surrounding cities conditions were much improved and money more plentiful as the two Sikeston newspapers carried a total of 4479 inches of paid advertising of which The Standard carried 3355 inches.

BY THEIR RIGHT NAMES

Use of accurately descriptive terms can do much to strip from anti-social conduct the glamour that too often attaches to it. No right-thinking person desires to fasten on the criminal a feather's weight more of stigma than his crime deserves. But for the safety of society, for the sake of impressionable youth, deeds of outlaws should be labeled for just what they are—cowardly, cruel and despicable.

When important newspapers make serial chances out of the careers of bank robbers or murderers, enlarging on their cleverness, courtesy, or domestic virtues, they do much to confuse moral issues. To do this is to plant poisonous seeds in youthful or unbalanced minds, and to perpetuate conditions against which every decent citizen should set his face.

Those whose official duty it is to deal at close range with the criminal classes have no illusions about their picturesque qualities. More often they know them as ruthlessly destructive enemies of society, and their deeds as repellent.

A news story of a youthful robber whose depredations, some months ago, were finally checked by the police was played up by certain reporters almost as a modern Robin Hood whose remarkable cleverness had outwitted all the authorities. The essential meanness of his whole career was obscured by thinly veiled admiration for his agility. In the court dock, however, when the effect of the drugs to which this marauder was addicted had worn off, he appeared as an undersized, mentally retarded, wholly pathetic figure who needed nothing in the way of first treatment so much as a scrubbing with strong soap and water.

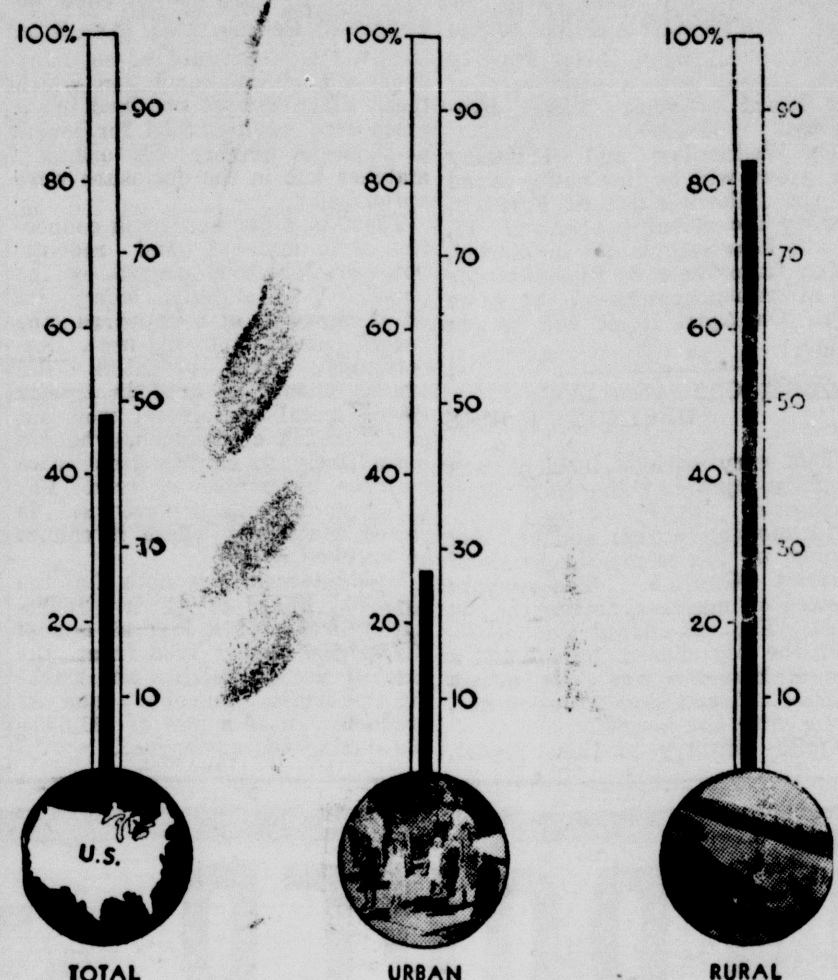

In his preface to "Oliver Twist", Charles Dickens makes some remarks worth recalling:

I had read of thieves by scores; seductive fellows (amiable for the most part), faultless in dress, plump in pocket, choice in horseflesh, bold in bearing, fortunate in gallantry, great at a song, a bottle, pack of cards or dice box, and companion for the bravest. But I have never met (except in Hogarth's) with this miserable reality. It appeared to me to draw a knot of such associates in crime as really do exist; to paint them in all their deformity, in all their wretchedness . . . would be to attempt a something which was greatly needed and which would be a service to society.

Reports of criminal trials might well be kept free from accounts of vice, violence, and debauchery that are made to read like interesting romances with defendants referred to by their first names as though they were bosom friends of editor and reader and in fact reputable persons in temporary difficulty with the law.

Honestly depicted, the details of crime would be sordid and the private lives of criminals repulsive. Right-thinking readers are justified in demanding that no false glamour be spread over the

DEATHS IN RURAL SECTIONS SHOOT UP

The rate of death from primary automobile accidents for the total United States registration area has increased almost 49 per cent from 1923 to 1932. In the urban territory of the United States, the death rate has increased 27 per cent, but in the rural section of the country, the rate of death has increased 83 per cent. This greater gain of deaths from automobile accidents in rural territories, brought out in statistics of The Travelers Insurance Company, reflects the seriousness of accidents in rural sections due largely to the rates of speed involved in many of the crashes that occur on highways.

Washington Comment

The Federal Power Commission has been authorized by Congress to make a nation-wide survey of rates charged for electricity, a subject of interest to everyone, from the large power company down to the man who now turns off the lamp instead of blowing out the gas.

In an Easter address a well-known college president and public man stated that the money spent during the World War would build a $2500 house on five acres of land for every family in Russia, Germany, Belgium, United States, Australia, Canada, England, Wales, Scotland, Ireland and France, supply each house with a thousand dollars worth of furniture, buy everything of value in Belgium and France, and leave a surplus to be expended otherwise. His conclusion that continued warfare, either military or economic, will end in international disaster more serious than heretofore knows, seems entirely justified.

The days when a feudal baron could hire a hundred men, fight out his grievance in a few days, and retire to peace, have passed. When war acquires such proportions that it can involve a world in a quarter-century of conflict physical and economic, a time has arrived when "there ought to be a law".

After several months of sparing, an American fugitive from justice is taken off a Greek ship in Turkey, with the suggestion that he is to be returned to the United States for trial. A great deal of law, international and otherwise, has been threshed over, but the matter appears to have been disposed of in the end, according to the simple words of the poet: "There's no place like home".

According to the weather bureau, the winter was less severe than usual throughout about 90% of the country. A gentleman from the middle west states that well-informed men in high places are planning revolution, looking forward to deposing the President, and contemplating putting the country on a Soviet-Russian basis; all of which, as Horace Greely used to say, is important if true. Anyhow, Congress is going to look into the matter. One sometimes is inclined to think that busy Representatives have to pass laws when they can snatch time in the intervals between investigations. It is reported that the ghost of a former President has been seen in the White House. Under the searching light of investigation, the revolutionary plot may turn out to be just another ghost.

Out in Iowa, the police have been called upon to find a fur coat which was stolen eighteen years ago. Police officers come in for some hard words now and then, but it appears that faith in the constabulary is by no means dead.

Among other persons of note, Washington has a friend of animals who is willing to go the limit. When informed by her cook that a rock fish, laid out for cleaning, had flopped its tail, she revived the fish in the bath tub, carried it several miles across town in a wash boiler of water, and slipped the fish back into the Potomac.

Chinese nationalists are expressing their disapproval of western civilization by throwing acid on garments of modern trend worn by women. If the clothes were both suits, or even some evening gowns, the acid-throwers must have been good shots.

The oldest Representative in Congress, in point of service, has been laid to rest in North Carolina. His achievements as a statesman may be forgotten, but the world should not forget the epitaph which he prepared for his own tomb: "I know not what record of sin may await me in the world to come, but this I do know: I was never mean enough to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because he was black".

New Madrid Farm News

E. J. Deal, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop Loan Office called at the County Extension Office Tuesday to discuss the 1934 crop loans. From this discussion the County Extension Agent quotes the following items which may be of interest to prospective borrowers.

Seed and Feed Loans will be granted in 1934 at 5½% interest.

The amount of the loans will be from $25 to $250.

Applicants for loans of $150 or more must first make application to the Production Credit Association at New Madrid.

All applicants must submit certificates from the County Production Control Council showing that they have either signed a crop reduction contract or are co-operating by not increasing their production.

Applicants must show that they cannot obtain credit elsewhere.

The loan is to be secured by a first mortgage on all crops grown by the applicant, and all persons interested in the crop must waive their liens.

Applications for loans will be taken at Gideon, Risco, Parma, Portageville New Madrid and East Prairie and Sikeston. The Committees to handle the loans in these towns have not yet been named.

Applications for loans will be taken at the above named places beginning Monday, April 2 and ending April 25.

Those desiring to make loans are urged to find the loan office in the nearest town named above. Since these local committees are better acquainted with local conditions they are in a much better position to give advice than is the County Extension Office.

No Word!

IT is now February 26. For ten days the Club has received no direct word from Arthur Able in Little America. The interruption is due to several things. One of these is the fact that the engineers are changing the radio equipment at Little America and installing directional antennae so that future messages, stories and broadcasts will come through perfectly. Messages are now being received by Admiral

Byrd and his men on the ice but they are unable to send messages out. We should be receiving our stories in another few days now and we bet they will be exciting stuff!

Richard C. Hoyt, Little America Radio Man - The last of the supplies are being brought in from the various caches on the ice and the winter quarters are being made as comfortable as possible. Captain Allan Innes-Taylor, in charge of Admiral Byrd's dog department, has left with three other men for a 300 mile journey back toward Carmen Land to establish a food base as part of the scientific program of the expedition. A crack which is developing in the ice in back of Little America is causing the Admiral some concern and he is taking his usual early and wise precautions. When Arthur's stories start coming through again, we hope he will tell us all about that dog sled journey so you may mark it properly on your Club maps.

This delay gives us a chance to tell you about an interesting member of the Club who is not on the Expedition but is a very important member of it. This is Richard C. Hoyt who, with his radio receiving set, constitutes the northern end of the 10,000 mile air line that transmits the stories from President Able and Lieut. Comdr. George Noville, who are collaborating in keeping the now 12,000 Club members informed about the doings down at the bottom of the world. From midnight to 8 a.m. every night except Wednesday, Dick Hoyt is glued to his set, high in the radio room of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, on Broad Street, New York, and receives Able's stories, expedition news bulletins, messages to families and all the other "word traffic" which goes on between this scientific Expedition and the outside world. Hoyt is a cartoonist, a photographer, a wood-carver and, he says, a fairly good sailor, in addition to being a part radio operator. And what do you think he does on his days off? He is an amateur wireless operator! In this capacity his name is "W2FPL" and he is an active member of the Naval Militia.

This week we had a most interesting visit from D. G. Shook, in charge of the expedition mail bureau at Washington, and he asked us to explain to the Club members how they can have letters or envelopes addressed to them actually sent from Little America with the cancelled Byrd Antarctic Expedition II stamp. On January 30th, President Roosevelt's birthday, Admiral Byrd opened in Little America the most remote official post office in the domain of the United States.

There will be only two cancellation dates for the mail sent from Little America. One of these dates will be that of the opening of the Little America Post Office on President Roosevelt's birthday. It is, of course, too late now to send mail for that dating. The second date has not yet been decided but letters for this second cancellation are now being accepted by the Postmaster for delivery about a year from now.

Those who wish to receive or send officially stamped letters from Little America may send as many letters as they desire, addressed to themselves or to friends. The addressed letters should be left unstamped and should be inserted in another envelope with the usual domestic postage affixed. Enclose a postal money order for 53 cents payable to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. The outside envelope should then be addressed to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, care of The Postmaster, Washington, D. C. Do not address these letters to the Club. We are simply telling you about this mail arrangement for your information and to render additional service to the Expedition. All the letters you send addressed to yourself or your friends will be packed at Washington and sent to San Francisco by train. Then they will go by steamship to New Zealand where they will be picked up, aboard the Expedition's ship, Richard Ruppert, and the Bear of Oakland, which will take them next December or January to the Ross Ice Barrier. There they will be unloaded and hauled by dog team to Little America where they will be postmarked and returned to you and the other recipients. By the time they get back they will have traveled almost 25,000 miles and, with the beautiful stamp and the interesting official cancellation from the Little America Post Office they will make a wonderful souvenir for years to come.

Readers of these stories are applying for membership cards and the free map of the South Polar regions faster than we can take care of them with the Club's small staff. We have 12,000 members already and pretty soon we shall be one of the biggest Clubs in the world. In addition to the map but in the near future, we are going to send diagrams of some of the equipment being used on this great Expedition. In the meantime, if you would like to join the Club, with out cost, and receive one of the free working maps so you can keep track of all the Expedition flights, exploration trips, etc., simply send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Arthur Able, Jr., President, Little America Aviation & Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

mix and mingle with all classes; a man who loved a good time, who wanted money that he might move in big-time stuff and be a hero—pull the whole gang in his wake. So Bill, the "Beau Brummell", a ne'er-do-care dare devil, who roamed the earth seeking pleasure regardless of its cost, was approached by Satan in his cunning, smooth and effective way, catching Bill in an unguarded moment when life was buoyant and pleasure ran rampant in his whole make-up, with a desire to make it last a lifetime, and says:

"Bill, you are a jolly good fellow, a man of brains, a mover in society, a master among men; women worship at your feet; men pay reverence at your shrine; your life can be made a life of conquest and pleasure will be your boon all your life if you will only come to go your limit in every particular, and I will see that you have all the money you need or want to carry on. You will never be handicapped in any way, but go your route, live life full to the brim. Bill, you like a good time, lots of money no worries, lots of friends, male and female and a chance to do everything you like. Well, I, the Devil, am offering you that opportunity. I need a man like you in Hell. I have never been able to get any brains or intelligence in Hell; I only get the riff-raff of earth, the crooks, imbeciles, gangsters, and gangsters' tools, gluttons, shylocks and ignoramuses. The church gets all the wise guys, brainy people and men of intelligence; men who know and can do things go with the churches, and I have to take the things, the dross of humanity. Now, Bill, if you will not join in with the church folks, but will go my route and have a big time, drink all you want, gamble all you like, or do anything else you want to, that will give you pleasure, and come to Hell when you die, I will furnish you all the money you can spend while you are on earth, and when you get to Hell you may select your own avocation. Do in Hell just as you have done on earth, satisfy your own desires and do as you please down there. How does that sound to you, Bill?"

"Now, that sounds all right, Mr. Devil," said Bill, "but how am I to know you are sincere in this matter? You have always been pictured as a very cunning strategist and irresponsible, seeking always to devour rather than to help."

"Yes, Bill, that is a fact," replied the Devil. "That's my mission; but I can't get anybody worth while, but you can get me a large following if you will only go with me. Now, Bill, here is what I will do. I will sign up a contract with you, a 'Blood Contract'. I will sign with my blood and you with your blood and that will be binding throughout Eternity."

Well, Bill thought that a pretty fair bargain to have all the money he wanted, to spend all through his life, do just as his fancy dictated, regardless of consequences, and live to a ripe old age, die and go to Hell and do as he pleased down here. So they signed up in their own blood.

When Bill finally passed out and his soul was ushered in to the confines of Hell, he was met by two little cloven-footed devils who were the gate keepers of his Satanic majestic throne room. They ran up to Bill and said, "You are Bill, the Wonderful from earth, aren't you?" "No, I am Bill, the foolish. Where is Satan?" "Would you like to see him?" they said. "Then follow us." And Bill was conducted in the throne room of Mephistopheles. And when he saw Bill, he jumped from his throne and came running to meet him, exclaiming "Oh boy, oh boy, it's old Bill, the pleasure seeker. How are you, Bill? By George, Bill, you are a winner; you kept your word, didn't you? You never let the churches get you. And you are here, and all Hell will be proud of you; we have at last got some intelligence in Hell, and it is up to me to fulfill my part of your agreement; something I don't usually do, but in this case I have to. Bill, we will first look over Hell and you will have a better idea of what you want to do."

So the Devil took Bill all over Hell, showing him its awfulness, and Bill heard the screams, the wailing and gnashing of teeth, saw the awful suffering, and after they had returned to the throne chamber, Satan said, "Now, Bill, what do you want to do in Hell? Just name it and it will be done, or you can do it."

Bill, stepping forth like a Roman gladiator, smote his breast and exclaimed, "Satan, this is my victorious day of all days, the climax of my life's desires. I wish to run a saw-mill on the river Stix."

"Oh, Bill, Bill, we can't have a saw-mill in Hell, impossible," cried the Devil, "anything, Bill, but not a saw-mill. We just can't have that!"

"Well," Bill says, "That's what I want, and that's the end to which I have worked and lived, and I've a contract with you, signed in blood, and I have fulfilled my part of that contract. Now it's up to you."

"Well, listen, Bill," pleaded the Devil, "won't anything else do? We can't have a saw-mill in Hell!"

"Now, Satan," said Bill, "I want a saw-mill and I won't have anything else. That's what I want to do and that's why I am here and for no other reason, and your promise must be kept."

Now Satan, in tears, looked up at Bill and said, "Bill, if it must be a saw-mill, then a saw-mill it is; but here is a busted Devil!"

MOUSE, CAT AND DOG DESTROY HOUSE

This very curious incident was recently reported from Hazel Bar, Michigan:

"A mouse, a cat and a dog teamed up to destroy the house of Charles Gunisch. The mouse chewed on matches, setting the box afire. The cat chased the mouse, then the dog chased the cat and a can of kerosene was overturned. Mouse, cat and dog were burned, along with the house."

Quite contrary to this report, fire prevention authorities state that rats or mice do not chew on matches. Because this has been reported as the cause of so many fires, a test was made in which these rodents were confined in a glass case without food for several days. A number of ordinary matches left in the enclosure were untouched.

There is a fire hazard in connection with matches and rodents, however, which is caused by the possibility of a match being set off in the wall of a house as the rodent carries it to his nest. Accordingly, these potential fire brands should be kept in tightly closed metal containers, well out of the reach of children, who are more likely to cause fires with matches, than mice or rats. For safety's sake keep kerosene in closed containers where it cannot be knocked over.

It is interesting to note that the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported a loss of almost $30,000,000 during 1932 from the careless use of matches and smoking materials. Petroleum and its products caused a loss of $11,500,000 during the same year.

Fire losses in general have been reduced extensively in the past two years of depression. Let's keep them down as better times return.

What has happened to the old west? Has it moved to New York?

The advertising department of a middle-western oil company—with headquarters, by the way, not 15 miles from what is left of Oklahoma's cattle country—was casting about for illustrations for a new campaign. The campaign was to announce the company's new insecticide, "Phillips 44", named after the famous 44-revolver which helped western pioneers make history and dead men. Chief feature of the advertising was to be a cowboy in caricature, blazing away at an exaggerated bug.

So the advertising department went shopping for art work—for just the right cowboy. Did it get it in Wichita? No. Every detail of the cowboy submitted by the Oklahoma City furnish the right cowhand? No. The boots were okay, spurs were in place, chaps were right, but the Oklahoma City cowboy wore a neat, four-in-hand necktie instead of the characteristic bandana. Chicago was tried. Home of great stockyard—Chicago's best contribution was combination of forest ranger, boy scout and truck farmer. In addition, the horse with which the Chicago cowboy was shown sported an English bridle.

The advertising department is firmly convinced that the only real west that is left exists in New York. As the department was at its wit's end along came a submission from Gotham. Perfect. Every detail correct. It was too good to let drop so the art department investigated, found that the artist had never been outside of New York except when his Philadelphia aunt died and he went to the funeral. That was when he was 9.

Kansas City, April 6.—It is spring tonic time at Swope Park Zoo—and what a time it is proving to be for the animals and keepers.

Just ask Tex Clark, zoo superintendent. Feeding sulphur and molasses to little boys and girls is a lark compared to forcing animals to take codliver oil and other medicines.

Here's how some of the zoo residents are doctored:

The elephants—They are given their tonic from a "drench" bottle that resembles a motor oil bottle. They don't usually mind taking the medicine because it is flavored with peppermint. When the do, it is squirted down their throats with a pump gun.

Cleo the Hippopotamus.—She's given a pint of codliver oil with her meals each day. She takes it rather than go hungry.

The Blue Gnu.—Having the disposition of a wildcat, this animal usually is forced into a fence where its horns become locked. Then the medicine is forced down its throat with a capsule shooter.

The Monkeys.—They are dosed with codliver oil hidden away in a hollowed-out banana. They take a bite before they discover they've been tricked. But a bite a day, says the zoo superintendent, will keep the doctor away.

The tigers, lions and leopards.—Sulphur is sprinkled on their meat. Also small capsules of chenopodium oil is tucked away in the beefsteak. Often the "cats" discover the capsules and turn up their noses. But they, too, must eat the meat or go without.

The bears.—Their codliver oil is placed in a hollowed stale loaf of bread. They eat it to the last crumb. Keepers say the animals mistake it for a fried fish sandwich.

The Virginia deers.—They take their medicine like gentlemen. They open their mouths and permit keepers to pull out their tongues and, plunk, down goes the tonic.

Even the canaries, doves and parrots are being given spring tonic. The canaries do not sing so sweetly after taking a drink of doctored water, but they hop and flutter with more spirit.

The parrots use horrible language, much to the consternation of Mr. Clark, who says he would like to know where they learned it.

TALES OF MUNCHAUSEN

The Tale of the Dried Pea

By Stanford Bradshaw

Once while I was in the Rocky Mountains of the United States I decided to go gold prospecting. My equipment cost me over a hundred dollars. Among my provisions I had a sack of dried peas. One night a terrific thunderstorm broke over the place where I was camping. In my haste to reach shelter, I dropped my bag of peas in a crack of a mountain rock. The thunderstorm blew itself out in an hour or so. I then descended to my old camping place where I built a roaring fire. Presently I noticed a hole in the middle of the fire. It kept growing larger and larger until it finally swallowed the fire altogether. I discovered the cause of this almost instantly. My dried peas being dropped in the crack began to swell as the water rushed over them until they swelled so much and extended such tremendous power that they split the rock.

When I examined the hole the next morning, I found the rock was rich in places. I later sold the mine for $50,000.

BLUEJAYS WIN MEET

Members of the boys' and girls' track teams of the Charleston high school captured a dual meet from Matthews high at Charleston Friday. The Bluejays won, 66 to 52, and the Charleston girls gained a 55 to 15 victory.

Arbie Clark, Matthews' star athlete, was high man in the boys' events with 16 1/2 points, made from winning first in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, second in high hurdles, third in low hurdles, third in the shot put, and from participating in the 800-yard relay. Nelson of Matthews made 12 1/2 points and Hay and Parks of Charleston 10 each.

In the girls' meet Dorothy Gail Pemberton tallied almost half of Charleston's points, or 25.

The Mystery Cleared

The practical utility of spiritual law is being enforced by faith in the national government, in the will of the people voiced by the chief executive. In every age depressions are due to the fact that humanity is itself superior to its own institution and parts that go to make up the whole.

In the United States of America we have no dictator, and can have none, for the simple reason that in this democratic country every mother's son is of the royal blood of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness", that builds up its organizations and institutions as tools, instruments, paraphernalia and swaddling clothes worn on the way to spiritual manhood.

Those nations and peoples who fight for a place in the sun, for racial or national idealism, for Nirvana, and yet who deny the redeeming Spirit of Christ, and set up reincarnation, non-violent disobedience, or absorption, are trying to take flesh and blood into the kingdom of heaven, where nothing foul can enter.

Not extinction but individual spiritual identity is developed by the word made flesh, to uplift the human by the Divine, as exemplified in the immaculate conception, birth, life, word and works of our human and divine Teacher, and this is the underlying principle of all righteous government and presidential leadership.

Christianity is not a national, an international, nor even a planetary movement. It is the law of the infinite, the spiritual law that sustains the universe, in which the nations are mere families of mankind being regenerated and uplifted into higher realms of spiritual nativity, for the safe and sane utility of all peoples under Christ as God wills.

The whole mystery is partially cleared up in my TREATISE ON SPIRITUAL LAW sent postpaid on receipt of $1. Many who have read this treatise have volunteered to say that every man, woman and child should have it. It strengthens and imbues political truth society and civilization, with a refreshing modicum of spiritual wisdom and understanding are much needed today.

To this end a series of advertisements are now running in several thousand newspapers, and every dollar received will be used to publish and extend a knowledge of the practical utility of spiritual law. It is hoped that millions will respond and that the vision of faith that made this nation the leader may be speedily restored. Send a dollar bill with your name and address. I'll take the chance ENOS ELI SUTHERLAND Box 316, Gartner, Mass.

Sikeston, Missouri

On a recent visit to London Charlie Blanton of The Sikeston Standard overheard a conversation between two fishwives. One said: "D'you know, Mr. 'Arris, I sometimes wonder if me husband's grown tired of me". "An' what makes you say that, Mrs. 'Iggs?" "Well, he ain't been home for all o' seven years"—K. C. Democrat.

In doing our part to help with the distribution of seed to those desiring and entitled to them, it was the pleasure to help in this office to fill out all of the application blanks, then our duty was finished we believed. Then came the second batch of seed to be given to colored folks and Reverend Collins kindly volunteered his services which was much appreciated and very helpful.

Our neighbor, W. P. Wilkerson, is a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Scott County on the Democratic ticket and solicits your consideration at the August primary. We have known him and his folks always and can vouch for Wiley in every way.

Tom Scott has announced as a candidate for Collector. He needs no words of praise or introduction to the voters as he is well known to every voter in Scott County. He is a good campaigner and proposes to run the race on a high plane.

Everybody in Ward 3 knows Barney Forrester and know him to be a good citizen, and one who is deeply interested in Sikeston. He asks the support of the voters of that Ward for alderman to succeed Dr. Presnell resigned to be Mayor. Barney will be an active member if elected.

The last edition of "Colliers" in mentioning Washington Workers included, among others, that of Catherine Blanton, secretary to Senator Pat Harrison. To be sure her Father and Mother were very proud to note this.

Sir E. Pendleton Crowe of the Dexter Statesman seems to have gotten religion, which he probably needed after reading Charley Blanton's editorials for 21 years. So he is penning sermonettes and bearing down hard on the spiritual side of life. Thus, he agrees with a fellow who stopped him in his tracks a few days ago and told him that "the violation of the Ten Commandments has more to do with our financial distresses than anything else". Well, our experience has been that a fellow can have a lot of financial worry without monkeying with the Commandments at all. In fact, you can go broke living up to them. We're not saying this to drive Sir Edmund back to a life of shame, but just to be sure that he is equipped with all the information.—K. C. Democrat.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from an Oran woman who orders us not to put any articles in The Standard about her or any of her family and this is to tell her that we don't give a damn whether items printed in The Standard suits her or her family or not, as we do not make a habit of consulting anybody what goes in this sheet.

The City of Sikeston stands ready to oil any or all streets of Sikeston at once if the property owners so wish it and will inform the Mayor, the city clerk, or the street commissioner. The money must be on the barrel head as it is a cash proposition.

The editor visited the colored school at noon time Monday and was proud of the new addition to their school building. This room is being put to good use as a domestic science room, where cooking, canning, preserving and sewing is taught. About two weeks from now their annual county fair will be held at which time the eleven schools of Scott County will have displays of different kinds of needle work and modeling of dresses they have made, and the boys show many useful articles they have made under the direction of their manual training teacher. The cramped quarters in the shed used for manual training made it necessary to use the basement of the Baptist Church in the Sunset Addition. These teachers are doing splendid work.

A trip through Sunset Addition Monday afternoon showed many of the streets had been freshly graded which showed the new city administration proposes to look after every section of the city. Some work was being done in Ward Two in an attempt to do away with standing water after rains. Aldermen from each ward should look after their sections and complaints should be made to the alderman, their representative, instead of direct to the Mayor, and let the alderman take it up with the Street Commissioner.

Sheriff Accuses Three of Bisbennet Robbery

With four persons in jail, Sheriff Sam Harris, of New Madrid County, thinks he has completed the roundup of participants in the attempted robbery of the William Bisbennet store near New Madrid a week ago yesterday.

One, Mrs. Genevieve LaRue, 20 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reddick, farmers living four miles east and a mile south of Bernie, was arrested last Tuesday. She was apprehended chiefly because of a bullet wound which she believes she inflicted herself during a scuffle in the store and when questioned readily admitted her part in the attempted holdup. She refused, however, to name her accomplices and denied that the men arrested had been with her at the time.

Robert Lindsay, about 25 years old, of near Bernie, has been identified by witnesses as the man who entered the store with Mrs. LaRue, and O'Dell McIntosh, about 26 years old, is said to have been with her when the three stopped at Malden and again at Bernie in an effort to locate a doctor to dress Mrs. LaRue's wound.

Bonds for the three have been set at $10,000 each. Mrs. LaRue, at least, will be charged with first degree robbery with a deadly weapon and assault with intent to kill.

The fourth person in jail, Dilford Riddle of near Bernie, is not thought to have been connected with the Bisbennet robbery, but he is being held and questioned about another crime. He will be charged with robbing an aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cruger, at their home on the Mississippi River in the southern part of New Madrid County, of a shotgun, a rifle and $28, last week.

CCC Men Examined At Poplar Bluff

Twenty-eight young men from Scott County, picked from applicants to go to a six-months' session of a Civilian Conservation Corps Camp, underwent a physical examination Friday morning at the Jewell Theatre in Poplar Bluff, together with about 175 other youths from Southeast Missouri. The following day they were scheduled to leave for one of three camps, at Fremont or Big Spring in Missouri, or at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

It is possible, however, that the young men will first be sent to a training camp for two weeks. Each one accepted will send to his family $25 of his $30 monthly salary.

One man chosen, Arnold Louis Urhahn of New Hamburg, refused to attend the camp.

The following went from Scott County: James Oscar Payne, Ansell; Lurton Ann Dukes, Blodgett; Everett Norman Story, Ivan Marvin Musgrave, William Frederick Barringer, and James Jerome Reeves, Chaffee; Frank August Ledure, Commerce; C. C. Miller, Crowder; Albert Edward Williams, Diehlstadt; Ralph Jackson Johnson and Cline Franklin Griffith, Fomfelt; Carl Millard Calhoun and Percy McCromick, Ilmo; Victor Leo Schoen and Richard Joseph Enderlie, Kelso; Thelmer Eugene Patterson and Lawrence Leslie Young, Morley; Raymond Edward Glueck, New Hamburg; Virgil Wilbur Dellinger, Edmond Starling Lyne, Jr., and Alton Perry Robinson, Oran; Nobel Gene Dick and Melvin Marion Miller, Perkins; Lenne Warnice, Vanduser and Barney Dee Chappell, Ernest Monroe Stacy, Royal Leslie Kellett and Daniel Byrd, Sikeston.

Also reporting in Poplar Bluff Friday were twenty-seven young men from Butler County, thirty-three from Stoddard, nineteen from Mississippi, thirty-four from New Madrid and forty-three from Pemiscot.

CHILD RUN OVER; RECOVERS QUICKLY

Richard Eugene Jines, 3 years old, was knocked unconscious and suffered bruises on his face and stomach when a car, driven by his father, Arley Jines, ran over him at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. The child, who had been playing in the yard before the time of the accident, jumped on the right front fender of his father's car as Jines started the motor preparatory to backing from the yard of his home in the west part of town. Jines neither saw nor heard the boy because of darkness and the noise of the running engine. As he cut his wheels sharply to back out, Richard was thrown off and fell on his face under the right front wheel, which ran over the lower part of his back before his father could stop the car.

Jines immediately took his son to Dr. G. W. Presnell, who treated him. Since regaining consciousness at about midnight Thursday, the child has been recovering rapidly.

New Relief Plan to Extend Four Weeks

The county's allotment for direct and work relief was divided at a meeting of the Scott County Committee which was held at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in Benton. Sikeston's share of the allotment will be used by laborers who will finish the municipal airport and work in the community garden, on city streets, and in any other parts of town which require repair or improvement.

The new setup under which relief officials are now operating will extend only over a four-week period, ending April 25. With the official termination of all relief and CWA work under the old plan registrations were obliterated. Consequently no one is now on relief, and persons getting relief under the present scheme will first have to make new applications here. If they are found eligible for relief they will be placed in the new roll and furnished work at a rate of 30 cents an hour for the amount of relief they are granted. Remuneration for labor will be made in the form of grocery orders. No one family, however, will be allowed the equivalent in commodities of more than sixteen hours a week.

Orders for persons or direct relief will be approved here, but those for persons on county relief will be issued from the Ilmo relief office, where books on county expenditures will be kept.

At the end of the four-week period people still requiring relief will get it from an additional county allotment which will probably be made for May.

Jack Dolan of Ilmo and Alvin Papin of Chaffee have been named county supervisors for the new setup, and Martha Harrison, employment certifying officer at the CWA re-employment office here, has been chosen to be the county certifying officer in Ilmo, where re-employment office work will now be done.

The Scott County Committee, which supervises all relief work, is composed of the following men: Chairman, J. J. Miller, Ilmo; C. D. Matthews, Jr., and John Young, Sikeston; Roy Green, Blodgett; T. A. Heisserer, Oran and Mayor L. J. Heyman and Dr. C. B. Thomas, Chaffee.

Jefferson City, April 6.—Nearly 13 million cabbage, tomato and sweet potato plants are ready for Missouri "relief" gardens, according to word received in the State Garden Program office from commercial nurserymen who have grown the plants. Shipments have been ordered for the southern counties, and will be made in the central and northern regions as the planting season for them moves northward.

These plants are to be furnished 75,000 needy gardeners who have received units containing 13 varieties of garden seed from the Missouri Relief and Reconstruction Commission.

For the large community gardens, of which there is a total of 2500 acres, 1200 cabbage plants, 4000 tomato and 11,600 sweet potato plants will be supplied for each acre devoted to those crops. A large part of the yield from these plants, as well as from the winter use, according to State relief officials. A food conservation program, to assist participating gardeners in canning, drying and storing garden produce, will be formulated under the State Garden Program.

Glen Cunningham, world famed distance runner, pauses for a moment in his successful travels from one track meet to another, to have a chat with Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum Company, at his office in Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

FORMER RESIDENT TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

Jewell Holman East, who lived here for many years, has announced his candidacy for congressman from the recently formed twelfth district, which embraces all of St. Louis County, and part of West and South St. Louis, subject to the August primary. He will run on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. East attended the Sikeston public schools, and while he lived here worked as bookkeeper for A. J. Matthews. Following his graduation from the University of Missouri and from the School of Law of St. Louis University, he began practicing law in St. Louis, where he now lives.

During the World War, Mr. East served in the Merchant Marine. He is now a member of the American Legion, the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, the Law Library Association of St. Louis and St. John's Methodist Episcopal church.

MAX CLODFELTER IS DEXTER POSTMASTER

Dexter, April 4.—Max Clodfelter, well known Stoddard County man, received his commission as postmaster here Sunday. Mr. Clodfelter is commander of the local American Legion Post, which office he has held since the Post's organization eight years ago, and has been with the Bacon-Sellert Motor Company here for the past eight years. He will take charge of the postoffice as soon as his bond is approved.

H. E. West is retiring postmaster.

The fourth to youngest son of Jeff Potlocks may turn out to be a smart man yet. In the geography class Thursday, in proving that the world is round, he said when a mule is coming up hills, the first thing you see is his ears.—Commercial Appeal.

"Husk" O'Hare and His Band Here April 11th

"Husk" O'Hare, "The Genial Gentleman of the Air", broadcast- ing over a coast-to-coast network of the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System, is the best dressed exponent of the art of music. And especially after nightfall. A product of Kentucky with a special flair of natty effects in tails and dinner jackets. His evening ties are a succession of correct points and his sawed-off vests set even such horizontal weskitties as Clark Gable to teeth gnashing. For wearing evening clothes as no one else does, he has the what-it-takes that packs them in. There is a lustrous swagger about his wide-shouldered, double-breasted, hugely pearl-buttoned and jauntily belted camel hair overcoats with incredibly large pockets.

During the daytime he was well-cut clothes very, very Broadwayish. His suits are screaming checks, his cream and silver car has his name painted across the back in stud-horse gold letters and he carries booklets and matches with his photo on one side and name on the other. He gives autographed pictures to his friends.

See and hear him at the Armory Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

FLORENCE CRISLER MADE GRADE SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Miss Florence Crisler of New Madrid, who has taught here four years, was made principal of the elementary school at a meeting of the School Board Friday morning.

Miss Crisler will replace Miss Maude Herring, who will retire this spring after being affiliated with the Sikeston school system for thirteen years. She has held the principalship for eight years.

At this meeting, too, Roy V. Ellise was elected superintendent of Sikeston schools for his fourteenth term and William E. Mahew was made principal of the high school for the fourth time. Election of teachers for next fall will be held at a regular board meeting April 18.

Friday morning J. W. Baker, Jr., and R. E. Bailey were re-elected president and secretary, respectively, of the School Board, and Lee Bowman and W. H. Sikes were named vice-presidents. C. D. Matthews III the only new member elected to the group last Tuesday, was sworn in. R. A. McCord was re-elected.

The body of a negro man, who had been shot through the eye and heart and one of whose arms had been chopped off, supposedly with an ax, was found Sunday in a slough near White Oak in Dunklin County. It is thought the negro had been dead for some time since the body, found by a boy whose name was not learned, was badly decomposed. The man has not yet been identified.

Council Names Eight to Fill City Positions

The City Council named A. C. Barrett, defeated candidate for assessor in Tuesday's election, as City Clerk at a meeting held Friday evening in the City Hall. Other officials chosen by the group were W. C. Boardman, street commissioner; Dr. H. M. Kendig, city physician; Dick Swanner, driver of the fire truck; John A. Young, fire chief; Joe Matthews, chairman of the board of aldermen; Gid Danies, night marshal, and Dr. A. A. Mayfield, member of the board of public works. These men were re-elected from lists of applicants and from persons recommended by Dr. G. W. Presnell.

After the balloting the Council voted $15, which will be added to an equal amount granted by the Scott County Court to provide transportation money to Chicago for an indigent Sikeston man and his invalid child. A sum of $28.35 was also voted to pay CWA workers for the overtime, during which they completed work on city sidewalks. A request by Lon Swanner, former street commissioner, for reimbursement for the use of a tractor belonging to him and utilized on city projects for three years was deferred until a future meeting.

N. E. Fuchs invited the Council and members of the board of public works to a mutton dinner at his house Saturday evening.

Following the general meeting the Council went into executive session. It will meet again soon to complete plans for a special election to choose an alderman from ward three who will fill the place left vacant by Dr. Presnell when he was elected Mayor.

Many License Arrests Made by Trooper Dace

Numerous arrests of persons without proper licenses were made last week-end by Patrolman Dace of the State Highway Patrol office here.

Lowell Davis, Jonesboro, Ark., was arrested in Sikeston Thursday afternoon for operating his truck without a PSC license. His case is now pending in the police court here.

Others arrested Thursday were Levi Howell of Dexter for driving a truck belonging to the Dexter Lumber Company with a 1933 license, and Lenis Cox at Dexter for lacking a chauffeur's license. Both these men were fined $5 and costs.

On Saturday, Patrolmen Dace

and Tandy arrested C. A. Brooks of Arbyrd, Mo., for buying for Arkansas State license and living Missouri, and Patrolman Dace arrested A. F. Wooten of Cardwell, Mo., on the same charge. In both instances the patrolmen recommended fines of $25.

The following were also arrested Saturday: Harvey Jones of Cardwell, for having no license; rested A. F. Wooten of Cardwell, for driving his car with a 1933 license; C. Adams of Marston, for operating without a license, and G. R. Brewer of Cardwell for lacking a chauffeur's license. Charges against Brewer were dismissed when he purchased a license; the others were all fined $5 and costs.

Two Banks Open In Caruthersville

The National Bank of Caruthersville, housed in the old Bank of Caruthersville building which was purchased for $22,000, will open this week. A. B. Rhodes, present cashier of the First National Bank at Steele, will be cashier and acting head of the new bank.

The National Bank is being sponsored chiefly by a group of Poplar Bluff men. Its offices will be filled by Ed L. Abington, an attorney and active vice-president of the Bank of Poplar Bluff, as president; George W. Cook, vice-president of the First National Bank of Steele, as vice-president; Leslie Ferguson, formerly of Caruthersville, assistant cashier and John Ellis, Cape Girardeau, head bookkeeper.

Directors will be A. B. Rhodes, George W. Cook and J. H. Workman of Steele; E. L. Bradshaw of Campbell; H. W. Green of Caruthersville, and Hugo L. Boeving and Ed L. Abington of Poplar Bluff.

The capital stock of the new bank, which is a member of the Federal Reserve System, is $50,000, with $10,000 surplus. The opening of this bank will give Caruthersville two such institutions, for the First State Bank of Caruthersville formally began operating last Tuesday with home-subscribed stock, with the exception of $30,000 secured from the R.F.C. The bank is located in the Citizens' Trust building and is headed by R. L. Ward.

Sikeston Men Will Attend Convention

A. M. Jackson of the Sikeston Lumber Company and N. E. Fuchs and Bill Robinson of the E. C. Robinson Lumber Co., will attend a meeting of the Southeast Missouri Retail Lumber Dealers' Association which will be held in Poplar Bluff, Thursday.

Speakers at the annual convention, which will last only the one day, will include Charles R. Black of Corning, Ark., and Dr. W. V. Parker, president of the Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau. Dr. Parker will talk at a banquet Thursday evening.

The following men are officers of the association: President, Charles F. Kieffer, Perryville, vice-president, J. Lanier Byrd, Charleston; secretary, W. T. Nethery, Hayti; treasurer, O. T. Pfefferkorn, Chaffee, and directors, Robt. Henderson, Poplar Bluff, E. M. Robinson, St. Louis, L. T. Metz, Poplar Bluff, C. A. Himelberger, Cape Girardeau and Leon Herrick, Crystal City.

The association members met in Poplar Bluff last year.

BASEBALL LEAGUE FORMED

High school baseball teams of Fomfelt, Fruitland, Chaffee, Benton and Central high school in Cape Girardeau have formed a league and will play this spring. The first game will be April 11. Sikeston did not enter because it lacked a baseball team, and Jacksonville, also invited to participate, did not answer a query.

The Angel of Death Visited—

Funeral services for Frank Amrhein, 63-year-old prominent farmer of Scott County, who died early Friday at his home near Chaffee, were held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at his residence. They were conducted by the Rev. E. Ligon, pastor of the Chaffee Christian church. Burial was in Union Park cemetery under the leadership of members of the Masonic lodge.

Mr. Amrhein was born in Rantoul, Ill., December 13, 1870. He first entered the dredging business at the age of 17. When he was 39 he moved to Blodgett, where for many years he was employed by the Marshall Land & Mercantile Company. Thirty-two years ago he was married to Miss Mary Hypes, who died in 1908.

A son died several years ago.

The General Aviation Company of St. Louis is bringing an all-metal flammable eight-passenger airplane here for passenger flights on Saturday and Sunday. The plane will operate from the municipal airport, located a half-mile east of town.

The ship and pilot carry the highest government licenses, and the pilot, Charles Kratochvil of St. Louis, is well known in Sikeston, since he has been here previously for passenger flights. Mr. Kratochvil will arrive Wednesday for a talk at a Lions Club luncheon to be held at noon at the Marshall Hotel.

HORSE INJURES FARMER

Manley Stagner, about 50 years old, a farmer living near Blodgett, suffered broken ribs and severe cuts on his head and shoulders when he was knocked down and kicked by a horse Saturday morning. Stagner had gone out at about 7 o'clock to get the horse when the accident occurred. The horse, after sending him to the ground, continued to kick him until his son rescued him. Stagner has fared in this district for many years.

The decision was a matter of only a few weeks, the hearing having been held March 8, and the decision being rendered hardly a month from the date. J. M. Massengill, local attorney, represented Sidwell in the case.

Mr. Taylor was formerly manager of the Metropolitan chain stores in Newport News. In June his wife and children will join him.

TO VOTE LIQUOR SALE

New Madrid citizens will vote May 1 to determine whether liquor shall be sold by the drink in that city. An application signed by more than a fifth of the qualified voters was presented April 2 to the board of aldermen, who set the date for a special city election. New Madrid will be the first town in its county to vote on this proposition.

Glancing over The Sikeston Standard, we reach the conviction that one of two things is certain—either The Standard is a remarkable advertising medium, or practically all the merchants of Sikeston are crazy. If insanity is prevalent, it is well established, for every issue of The Standard is full of ads.—K. C. Democrat.

You have oftentimes read elsewhere about a mother dog or mother cat that had adopted the young of some other species of animal for her own, but here is one of these stories right at home. Ward DeField, while out on one of the drainage ditches in the county last week, heard a whining noise and upon investigation found a fox den and dug out one of the young whelps. He brought it to town with him and turned it over to a mother dog that he has at home that is rearing a family of her own, and the young fox has been accepted without question by her and his foster brothers and sisters. The mother dog shows as much maternal attention to the fox pup that she does to any of her own, DeField says, and its whines always brings her to the box to investigate the trouble.—Charleston Courier.

Over at Sikeston, according to Editor Charles L. Blanton of The Standard, a high school student, in an examination just before Christmas, received this question: "What causes a depression?" His answer was: "Good knows! I don't. Merry Christmas". And when the examination paper came back to him, he found the professor's notation: "God gets 100. You get zero. Happy New Year".—K. C. Personal News of Sikeston

By Mrs. C. M. Harris, Phone 581

Miss Viva Hatcher of Chaffee spent the last of the week here at the Wayne Bess home.

Rosemary Ames, Chicago girl whose work on the London stage led to a contract with Fox Film, starts her American screen career Thursday and Friday in the leading feminine role of "I Believed in You" at the Malone Theatre. Victor Jory and John Boles are the other featured players in the picture from William Conselman's screen play. Irving Cummings directed. Send your curtains and drapes to Faultless Cleaners. Phone 127.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gardner and son, Dempsey, spent Sunday at Lilbourn with Mr. Gardner's mother, Mrs. G. H. Gardner.

Victor Jory, sharing featured honors with Rosemary Ames and John Boles in "I Believed in You", is playing his sixteenth role in the thirteen months he has been under contract to Fox Film. His latest production comes on Thursday and Friday to the Malone Theatre.

Mrs. A. C. Barrett, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Moore Greer, Miss Myra Tanner and Miss Clara Lindley of Sikeston, and Mrs. Harold Hebbeler of Cape Girardeau were in Cairo Saturday, where they attended a luncheon bridge given by Mrs. Bernet Rees.

When someone told John Boles cycling was a healthful exercise, he took the suggestion seriously. It isn't unusual for him to pedal from his home in Beverly Hills to his cottage at Malibu Beach, a distance of about 25 miles. And making him still more different from most of the other cycling film players, it was not until the other day that a photograph was made showing him on the bike. Boles' latest role is in "I Believed in You", Fox film in which he shares feature honors with Rosemary Ames and Victor Jory. It comes Thursday and Friday to the Malone Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Langley and children spent Sunday in Piggott, Ark., visiting Mrs. E. P. Langley and other relatives. They were accompanied home by Mrs. K. H. Wiggs and son, Russell D., of Oakland City, Ind., for a week's visit here with her sister and family. Mrs. Wiggs and son had been visiting with relatives at Piggott.

Gertrude Michael, the Alabama girl who was brought to Hollywood from the New York stage a year ago and now has a dozen screen roles to her credit, has the fourth important part in "I Believed in You", the cast of which is headed by Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory and John Boles. Irving Cummings directed the film which comes to the Malone Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hitchcock and daughter, Mary Ann, visited in Cape Girardeau, Sunday afternoon. Joyzelle, Louisiana-born French dancer, has the acting-dancing role of "Vavara" in Irving Cummings' Fox Film Production, "I Believed in You" coming to the Malone Theatre. Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory and John Boles are featured in this picture. William Conselman wrote the story from an idea by William Anthony McGuire.

Miss Hazel Adams of Canolou, visited here Saturday and Sunday with her sister, Miss Maud Adams. She was accompanied home Sunday afternoon by Miss Adams, Albert Keith Bess, Mrs. Dutch Shuppert and daughter, where they visited relatives and friends.

The way to keep your weight down is to not let it go up, is the proven belief of John Boles. "Every morning of my life, before breakfast, I step on the scales", he says. "If they register above 190 pounds, I go without lunch or dinner, or put on three or four sweaters and pedal 10 or 15 miles on my bicycle". Boles, who is six feet-one and a former college athlete, carries 190 pounds of muscle well. He has just completed his tenth picture since he signed a Fox Film contract. It is "I Believed in You", which also features Rosemary Ames and Victor Jory and comes on Thursday and Friday to the Malone Theatre.

Among the many standing about the excavation for the new bank was a man seeking information. He asked if the funds for this work was coming from the PWA or CWA. A bystander answered, "No, CDM".

The two weeks ending Friday, April 6 showed the merchants of Sikeston and surrounding cities conditions were much improved and money more plentiful as the two Sikeston newspapers carried a total of 4479 inches of paid advertising of which The Standard carried 3355 inches.

Health and strength comes to him who heeds the laws of nature keeps regular hours and places his faith in God. We don't know whether the splendid gentleman whom we have reference to in this paragraph will like it or not, but we have a high regard for W. H. BY THEIR RIGHT NAMES

Use of accurately descriptive terms can do much to strip from anti-social conduct the glamour that too often attaches to it. No right-thinking person desires to fasten on the criminal a feather's weight more of stigma than his crime deserves. But for the safety of society, for the sake of impressionable youth, deeds of out-laws should be labeled for just what they are—cowardly, cruel and despicable.

When important newspapers make serial romances out of the careers of bank robbers or murderers, enlarging on their cleverness, courtesy, or domestic virtues, they do much to confuse moral issues. To do this is to plant poisonous seeds in youthful or unbalanced minds, and to perpetuate conditions against which every decent citizen should set his face. Those whose official duty it is to deal at close range with the criminal classes have no illusions about their picturesque qualities. More often they know them as ruthlessly destructive enemies of society, and their deeds as repellent.

A news story of a youthful robber whose depredations, some months ago, were finally checked by the police was played up by certain reporters almost as a modern Robin Hood whose remarkable cleverness had outwitted all the authorities. The essential meanness of his whole career was obscured by thinly veiled admiration for his agility. In the court dock, however, when the effect of the drugs to which this marauder was addicted had worn off, he appeared as an undersized, mentally retarded, wholly pathetic figure who needed nothing in the way of first treatment so much as a scrubbing with strong soap and water.

In his preface to "Oliver Twist", Charles Dickens makes some remarks worth recalling:

I had read of thieves by scores; seductive fellows (amiable for the most part), faultless in dress, plump in pocket, choice in horseflesh, bold in bearing, fortunate in gallantry, great at a song, a bottle, a pack of cards or dice box, and a companion for the bravest. But I have never met (except in Hogarth's) with the miserable reality. It appeared to me to draw a knot of such associates in crime as really do exist; to paint them in all their deformity, in all their wretchedness . . . would be to attempt a something which was greatly needed and which would be a service to society.

Reports of criminal trials might well be kept free from accounts of vice, violence, and debauchery that are made to read like interesting romances with defendants referred to by their first names as though they were bosom friends of editor and reader and in fact reputable persons in temporary difficulty with the law.

Honestly depicted, the details of crime would be sordid and the private lives of criminals repulsive. Right-thinking readers are justified in demanding that no false glamour be spread over the

DEATHS IN RURAL SECTIONS SHOOT UP

The rate of death from primary automobile accidents for the total United States registration area has increased almost 49 per cent from 1923 to 1932. In the urban territory of the United States, the death rate has increased 27 per cent, but in the rural section of the country, the rate of death has increased 83 per cent. This greater gain in deaths from automobile accidents in rural territories, brought out in statistics of The Travelers Insurance Company, reflects the seriousness of accidents in rural sections due largely to the rates of speed involved in many of the crashes that occur on highways.

Washington Comment

The Federal Power Commission has been authorized by Congress to make a nation-wide survey of rates charged for electricity, a subject of interest to everyone, from the large power company down to the man who now turns off the lamp instead of blowing out the gas.

In an Easter address a well-known college president and public man stated that the money spent during the World War would build a $2500 house on five acres of land for every family in Russia, Germany, Belgium, United States, Australia, Canada, England, Wales, Scotland, Ireland and France, supply each house with a thousand dollars worth of furniture, buy everything of value in Belgium and France, and leave a surplus to be expended otherwise. His conclusion that continued warfare, either military or economic, will end in international disaster more serious than heretofore knows, seems entirely justified. The days when a feudal baron could hire a hundred men, fight out his grievance in a few days, and retire to peace, have passed. When war acquires such proportions that it can involve a world in a quarter-century of conflict physical and economic, a time has arrived when "there ought to be a law".

After several months of sparing, an American fugitive from justice is taken off a Greek ship in Turkey, with the suggestion that he is to be returned to the United States for trial. A great deal of law, international and otherwise, has been threshed over, but the matter appears to have been disposed of in the end, according to the simple words of the poet: "There's no place like home".

SIKESTON, MO.

According to the simple words of the poet: "There's no place like home".

According to the weather bureau, the winter was less severe than usual throughout about 90% of the country. The figures and observations of the weather bureau must be correct, yet the average person will not be inclined to agree with them, especially if he had to get through the winter without an overcoat.

A gentleman from the middle west states that well-informed men in high places are planning revolution, looking forward to disposing the President, and contemplating putting the country on a Soviet-Russian basis: all of which, as Horace Greely used to say, is important if true. Anyhow, Congress is going to look into the matter. One sometimes is inclined to think that busy Representatives have to pass laws when they can snatch time in the intervals between investigations. It is reported that the ghost of a former President has been seen in the White House. Under the searchlight of investigation, the revolutionary plot may turn out to be just another ghost.

Out in Iowa, the police have been called upon to find a fur coat which was stolen eighteen years ago. Police officers come in for some hard words now and then, but it appears that faith in the constabulary is by no means dead.

Among other persons of note, Washington has a friend of animals who is willing to go the limit. When informed by her cook that a rock fish, laid out for cleaning, had flopped its tail, she revived the fish in the bath tub, carried it several miles across town in a wash boiler of water and slipped the fish back into the Potomac.

Columbus has a little difficulty in discovering America, but his troubles were small compared with those which America has had in trying to discover Dillinger.

Chinese nationalists are expressing their disapproval of western civilization by throwing acid on garments of modern trend worn by women. If the clothes were nothing but suits, or even some evening gowns, the acid-throwers must have been good shots.

The oldest Representative in Congress, in point of service, has been laid to rest in North Carolina. His achievements as a statesman may be forgotten, but the world should not forget the epitaph which he prepared for his own tomb: "I know not what record of sin may await me in the world to come, but this I do know: I was never mean enough to despise a man because he was poor, because he was ignorant, or because he was black".

New Madrid Farm News

E. J. Deal, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop Loan Office called at the County Extension Office Tuesday to discuss the 1934 crop loans. From this discussion the County Extension Agent quotes the following items which may be of interest to prospective borrowers.

Seed and Feed Loans will be granted in 1934 at 5 1/2% interest.

The amount of the loans will be from $25 to $250.

Applicants for loans of $150 or more must first make application to the Production Credit Association at New Madrid.

All applicants must submit certificates from the County Production Control Council showing that they have either signed a crop reduction contract or are co-operating by not increasing their production.

Applicants must show that they cannot obtain credit elsewhere.

The loan is to be secured by a first mortgage on all crops grown by the applicant, and all persons interested in the crop must waive their liens.

Applications for loans will be taken at Gideon, Risco, Parma, Portageville New Madrid and East Prairie and Sikeston. The Committees to handle the loans in these towns have not yet been named.

Applications for loans will be taken at the above named places beginning Monday, April 2 and ending April 25.

Those desiring to make loans are urged to find the loan office in the nearest town named above. Since these local committees are better acquainted with local conditions they are in a much better position to give advice than is the County Extension Office.

No Word!

IT is now February 26. For ten days the Club has received no direct word from Arthur Abele in Little America. The interruption is due to several things. One of these is the fact that the engineers are changing the radio equipment at Little America and installing directional antennae so that future messages, stories and broadcasts will come through perfectly. Messages are now being received by Admiral

Richard C. Hoyt

Byrd and his men on the ice but they are unable to send messages out. We should be receiving our stories in another few days now and we bet they will be exciting stuff! There is lots going on down in Little America. The last of the supplies are being brought in from the various caches on the ice and the winter quarters are being made as comfortable as possible. Captain Allan Innes-Taylor, in charge of Admiral Byrd's dog department, has left with three other men for a 300 mile journey back toward Carmen Land to establish a food base as part of the scientific program of the expedition. A crack which is developing in the ice back of Little America is causing the Admiral some concern and he is taking his usual early and wise precautions. When Arthur's stories start coming through again, we hope he will tell us all about that dog sled journey so you may mark it properly on your Club maps.

This delay gives us a chance to tell you about an interesting member of the Club who is not on the Expedition but is a very important member of it. This is Richard C. Hoyt who, with his radio receiving set, constitutes the northern end of the 10,000 mile air line that transmits the stories from President Abele and Lieut. Comdr. George Noville, who are collaborating in keeping the now 12,000 Club members informed about the doings down at the bottom of the world. From midnight to 8 a.m. every night except Wednesdays, Dick Hoyt is glued to his set, high in the radio room of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, on Broad Street, New York, and receives Abele's stories, expedition news bulletins, messages to families and all the other "word traffic" which goes on between this scientific Expedition and the outside world. Hoyt is a cartoonist, a photographer, a wood-carver and, he says, a fairly good sailor, in addition to being an expert radio operator. And what do you think he does on his days off? He is an amateur wireless operator! In this capacity his name is "W2PFL" and he is an active member of the Naval Militia.

This week we had a most interesting visit from D. G. Shook, in charge of the expedition mail bureau at Washington, and he asked us to explain to the Club members how they can have letters or envelopes addressed to them actually sent from Little America with the cancelled Byrd Antarctic Expedition II stamp. On January 30th, President Roosevelt's birthday, Admiral Byrd opened in Little America the most remote official post office in the domain of the United States.

There will be only two cancellation dates for the mail sent from Little America. One of these dates will be that of the opening of the Little America Post Office on President Roosevelt's birthday. It is, of course, too late now to send mail for that dating. The second date has not yet been decided but letters for this second cancellation are now being accepted by the Postmaster for delivery about a year from now.

Those who wish to receive or send officially stamped letters from Little America may send as many letters as they desire, addressed to themselves or to friends. The addressed letters should be left unstamped and should be inserted in another envelope with the usual domestic postage affixed. Enclose a postal money order for 53 cents payable to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. The outside envelope should then be addressed to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, care of The Postmaster, Washington, D. C. Do not address these letters to the Club. We are simply telling you about this mail arrangement for your information and to render additional service to the Expedition. All the letters you send addressed to yourself or your friends will be packed at Washington and sent to San Francisco by train. Then they will go by steamship to New Zealand where they will be on board the Expedition's ship, Jacob Ruppert, and the Bear of Oakland, which will take them next December or January to the Ross Ice Barrier. There they will be unloaded and hauled by dog team to Little America where they will be postmarked and returned to you and the other recipients. By the time they get back they will have traveled almost 25,000 miles and, with the beautiful stamp and the interesting official cancellation from the Little America Post Office they will make a wonderful souvenir for years to come.

Readers of these stories are applying for membership cards and the free map of the South Polar regions faster than we can take care of them with the Club's small staff. We have 12,000 members already and pretty soon we shall be one of the biggest Clubs in the world. In addition to the lapel button which we expect to send out in the near future, we are going to send diagrams of some of the equipment being used on this great Expedition. In the meantime, if you would like to join the Club, without cost, and receive one of the free working maps so you can keep track of all the Expedition flights, exploration trips, etc., simply send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Arthur Abele, Jr., President, Little America Aviation & Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

ne'er-do-care dare devil, who roamed the earth seeking pleasure regardless of its cost, was approached by Satan in his cunning, smooth and effective way, catching Bill in an unguarded moment when life was buoyant and pleasure ran rampant in his whole make-up, with a desire to make it last a lifetime, and says:

"Bill, you are a jolly good fellow, a man of brains, a mover in society, a master among men; women worship at your feet; men pay reverence at your shrine; your life can be made a life of conquest and pleasure will be your boon and your life if you will only come with me. Do anything you want to, go your limit in every particular, and I will see that you have all the money you need or want to carry on. You will never be handicapped in any way, but go your route, live life full to the brim. Bill, you like a good time, lots of money no worries, lots of friends, male and female and a chance to do everything you like. Well, I, the Devil, am offering you that opportunity. I need a man like you in Hell. I have never been able to get any brains or intelligence in Hell; I only get the riff-raff of earth, the crooks, imbeciles, gangsters, and gangsters' tools, gluttons, shylocks and ignoramuses. The church get all the wise guys, brainy people and men of intelligence; men who know and can do things go with the churches, and I have to take the things, the dross of humanity. Now, Bill, if you will not join in with the church folks, but will go my route and have a big time, drink all you want, gamble all you like, or do anything else you want to, that will give you pleasure, and come to Hell when you die. I will furnish you all the money you can spend while you are on earth, and when you get to Hell you may select your own avocation. Do in Hell just as you have done on earth, satisfy your own desires and do as you please down there. How does that sound to you, Bill?"

"Now, that sounds all right, Mr. Devil," said Bill, "but how am I to know you are sincere in this matter? You have always been pictured as a very cunning strategist and irresponsible, seeking always to devour rather than to help."

"Yes, Bill, that is a fact," replied the Devil. "That's my mission; but I can't get anybody worth while, but you can get me a large following if you will only go with me. Now, Bill, here is what I will do. I will sign up a contract with you, a 'Blood Contract'. I will sign with my blood and you with your blood and that will be binding throughout Eternity."

Well, Bill thought that a pretty fair bargain to have all the money he wanted, to spend all through his life, do just as his fancy dictated, regardless of consequences, and live to a ripe old age, die and go to Hell and do as he pleased down here. So they signed up in their own blood.

When Bill finally passed out and his soul was ushered in to the confines of Hell, he was met by two little cloven-footed devils who were the gate keepers of his Satanic majestic throne room. They ran up to Bill and said, "You are Bill, the Wonderful from earth, aren't you?" "No, I am Bill, the foolish. Where is Satan?" "Would you like to see him?" they said. "Then follow us". And Bill was conducted in the throne room of Mephistopheles. And when he saw Bill, he jumped from his throne and came running to meet him, exclaiming "Oh boy, oh boy, it's old Bill, the pleasure seeker. How are you, Bill? By George, Bill, you are a winner, you kept your word, didn't you? You never let the churches get you. And you are here, and all Hell will be proud of you. We have at last got some intelligence in Hell, and it is up to me to fulfill my part of your agreement; something I don't usually do, but in this case I have to. Bill, we will first look over Hell and you will have a better idea of what you want to do."

So the Devil took Bill all over Hell, showing him its awfulness, and Bill heard the screams, the wailing and gnashing of teeth, saw the awful suffering, and after they had returned to the throne chamber, Satan said, "Now, Billie, what do you want to do in Hell? Just name it and it will be done, or you can do it."

Bill, stepping forth like a Roman gladiator, smote his breast and exclaimed, "Satan, this is my vicious day of all days, the climax of my life's desires. I wish to run a saw-mill on the river Styx."

"Oh, Bill, Bill, we can't have a saw-mill in Hell, impossible!" cried the Devil, "anything, Bill, but not a saw-mill. We just can't have that."

"Well," Bill says, "That's what I want, and that's the end to which I have worked and lived, and I've a contract with you, signed in blood, and I have fulfilled my part of that contract. Now it's up to you!"

"Well, listen, Bill," pleaded the Devil, "won't anything else do? We can't have a saw-mill in Hell." "Now, Satan," said Bill, "I want a saw-mill and I won't have anything else. That's what I want to do and that's why I am here and for no other reason, and your promise must be kept!"

Now Satan, in tears, looked up at Bill and said, "Bill, if it must be a saw-mill, then a saw-mill it is; but here is a busted Devil!"

MOUSE, CAT AND DOG DESTROY HOUSE

This very curious incident was recently reported from Hazel Bar, Michigan:

"A mouse, a cat and a dog teamed up to destroy the house of Charles Gunisch. The mouse chewed on matches, setting the box afire. The cat chased the mouse, then the dog chased the cat and a can of kerosene was overturned. Mouse, cat and dog were burned, along with the house."

Quite contrary to this report, fire prevention authorities state that rats or mice do not chew on matches. Because this has been reported as the cause of so many fires, a test was made in which these rodents were confined in a glass case without food for several days. A number of ordinary matches left in the enclosure were untouched.

There is a fire hazard in connection with matches and rodents, however, which is caused by the possibility of a match being set off in the wall of a house as the rodent carries it to his nest. Accordingly, these potential fire brands should be kept in tightly closed metal containers, well out of the reach of children, who are more likely to cause fires with matches, than mice or rats. For safety's sake keep kerosene in closed containers where it cannot be knocked over.

It is interesting to note that the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported a loss of almost $30,000,000 during 1932 from the careless use of matches and smoking materials. Petroleum and its products caused a loss of $11,500,000 during the same year.

Fire losses in general have been reduced extensively in the past two years of depression. Let's keep them down as better times return.

SEND FOR THIS TREATISE ON SPIRITUAL LAW

By Enos E. Sutherland This treatise corrects, and rebuilds in consciousness the pioneer principles that made the United States of America a great nation.

These are the principles we are all in need of today. They are made clear, practical, are enhanced in daily utility, by this treatise.

Character is built in the home, by the development of the soul-sense of each man, woman, and child—a duty that can now be performed.

This treatise takes those spiritual values and moral forces, in which every one believes, and reveals them:

To parents, so they can inspire a proper respect for authority in their children.

To writers and publishers, so they can feed constructive thought into the mind.

To judges and lawyers, so they can restore and administer justice.

To physicians, so they can heal the mind as well as the body.

To ministers, so they can save souls.

What has happened to the old west? Has it moved to New York?

The advertising department of a middle-western oil company—with headquarters, by the way, not 15 miles from what is left of Oklahoma's cattle country—was casting about for illustrations for a new campaign. The campaign was to announce the company's new insecticide, "Phillips 44", named after the famous 44-revolver which helped western pioneers make history and dead men. Chief feature of the advertising was to be a cowboy in caricature, blazing away at an exaggerated bug.

So the advertising department went shopping for art work—for just the right cowboy. Did it get it in Wichita? No. Every detail of the cowboy submitted by the Wichita artist was correct except the boots. They had flat, low heels, no spurs, and were worn outside what might have passed for the cowboy's chaps. Did Oklahoma City furnish the right cowboy? No. The boots were okay, spurs were in place, chaps were right, but the Oklahoma City cowboy wore a neat, four-in-hand necktie instead of the characteristic bandana. Chicago was tried. Home of great stockyard—Chicago's best contribution was combination of forest ranger, boy scout and truck farmer. In addition, the horse with which the Chicago cowboy was shown sported an English bridle.

The advertising department is firmly convinced that the only real west that is left exists in New York. As the department was at its wit's end along came a submission from Gotham. Perfect. Every detail correct. It was too good to let drop so the ad. investigated, found that the artist had never been outside of New York except when his Philadelphia disant died and he went to the funeral. That was when he was 9.

Kansas City, April 6.—It is spring tonic time at Swope Park Zoo—and what a time it is proving to be for the animals and keepers.

Just ask Tex Clark, zoo superintendent. Feeding sulphur and molasses to little boys and girls is a lark compared to forcing animals to take codliver oil and other medicines.

Here's how some of the zoo residents are doctored:

The elephants—They are given their tonic from a "drench" bottle that resembles a motor oil bottle. They don't usually mind taking the medicine because it is flavored with peppermint. When the do, it is squirted down their throats with a pump gun.

Cleo the Hippopotamus.—She's given a pint of codliver oil with her meals each day. She takes it rather than go hungry.

The Blue Gnu.—Having the disposition of a wildcat, this animal usually is forced into a fence where its horns become locked. Then the medicine is forced down its throat with a capsule shooter.

The Monkeys.—They are dosed with codliver oil hidden away in a hollowed-out banana. They take a bite before they discover they've been tricked. But a bite a day, says the zoo superintendent, will keep the doctor away.

The tigers, lions and leopards.—Sulphur is sprinkled on their meat. Also small capsules of chenopodium oil is tucked away in the beefsteak. Often the "cats" discover the capsules and turn up their noses. But they, too, must eat the meat or go without.

The bears.—Their codliver oil is placed in a hollowed stale loaf of bread. They eat it to the last crumb. Keepers say the animals mistake it for a fried fish sandwich.

The Virginia deers.—They take their medicine like gentlemen. They open their mouths and permit keepers to pull out their tongues and, plunk, down goes the tonic.

Even the canaries, doves and parrots are being given spring tonic. The canaries do not sing so sweetly after taking a drink of doctored water, but they hop and flutter with more spirit.

The parrots use horrible language, much to the consternation of Mr. Clark, who says he would like to know where they learned it.

TALES OF MUNCHAUSEN

The Tale of the Dried Pea

By Stanford Bradshaw

Once while I was in the Rocky Mountains of the United States I decided to go gold prospecting. My equipment cost me over a hundred dollars. Among my provisions I had a sack of dried peas.

One night a terrific thunderstorm broke over the place where I was camping. In my haste to reach shelter, I dropped my bag of peas in a crack of a mountain rock. The thunderstorm blew itself out in an hour or so. I then descended to my old camping place where I built a roaring fire. Presently I noticed a hole in the middle of the fire. It kept growing larger and larger until it finally swallowed the fire altogether. I discovered the cause of this almost instantly. My dried peas being dropped in the crack began to swell as the water rushed over them until they swelled so much and extended such tremendous power that they split the rock.

When I examined the hole the next morning, I found the rock was rich in places. I later sold the mine for $50,000.

BLUEJAYS WIN MEET

Members of the boys' and girls' track teams of the Charleston high school captured a dual meet from Matthews high at Charleston Friday. The Bluejays won, 66 to 52, and the Charleston girls gained a 55 to 15 victory.

Arbie Clark, Matthews' star athlete, was high man in the boys' events with 16 3/4 points, made from winning first in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, second in high hurdles, third in low hurdles, third in the shot put, and from participating in the 800-yard relay. Nelson of Matthews made 12 3/4 points and Hay and Parks of Charleston 10 each.

In the girls' meet Dorothy Gail Pemberton tallied almost half of Charleston's points, or 25.

The Mystery Cleared

The practical utility of spiritual law is being enforced by faith in the national government, in the will of the people voiced by the chief executive. In every age depressions are due to the fact that humanity is itself superior to its own institution and parts that go to make up the whole.

In the United States of America we have no dictator, and can have none, for the simple reason that in this democratic country every mother's son is of the royal blood of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness", that builds up its organizations and institutions as tools, instruments, paraphernalia and swaddling clothes worn on the way to spiritual manhood.

Those nations and peoples who fight for a place in the sun, for racial or national idealism, for Nirvana, and yet who deny the redeeming Spirit of Christ, and set up reincarnation, non-violent disobedience, or absorption, are trying ing to take flesh and blood into the kingdom of heaven, where nothing foul can enter.

Not extinction but individual spiritual identity is developed by the word made flesh, as exemplified in the immaculate conception, birth, life, word and works of our human and divine Teacher, and this is the underlying principle of all righteous government and presidential leadership.

Christianity is not a national, an international, nor even a planetary movement. It is the law of the infinite, the spiritual law that sustains the universe, in which the nations are mere families of mankind being regenerated and uplifted into higher realms of spiritual nativity, for the safe and sane utility of all peoples under Christ as God wills.

The whole mystery is partially cleared up in my TREATISE ON SPIRITUAL LAW sent post-paid on receipt of $1. Many who have read this treatise have volunteered to say that every man, woman and child should have it. It strengthens and imbues political truth society and civilization, with a refreshing modicum of spiritual wisdom and understanding are much needed today.

To this end a series of advertisements are now running in several thousand newspapers, and every dollar received will be used to publish and extend a knowledge of the practical utility of spiritual law. It is hoped that millions will respond and that the visions of faith that made this nation the leader may be speedily restored. 2 Send a dollar bill with your name and address.
